

Chapter One

The wind moved slowly across the open desert and the sand was warm. Paul stopped and looked toward the horizon.

He opened the old notebook, then closed the book and put it away.

Jessica said nothing. The sun went down behind the dunes.